Attempted Carjacking Suspect Arrested

Seal Beach, CA. – On Monday, July 31st, 2017, the Seal Beach Police Department arrested Elin Carrillo-Hernandez (age 43 of Los Angeles) for Attempted Carjacking. Earlier in the day the California Highway Patrol requested assistance from the Seal Beach Police Department regarding a call of a suspicious suspect on or near the 405 freeway at the Seal Beach Bl. exit. Officers responded, but were unable to locate the suspect.

Several hours later Security Officers from the Seal Beach Naval Weapons Station observed a suspect trespassing on the military base. They requested the assistance of the Seal Beach Police, and as they were tracking the suspect, he fled by climbing over the perimeter fence. Carrillo-Hernandez ran onto Seal Beach Bl. near the Leisure World retirement community and vehicle traffic stopped for the fleeing suspect and pursuing Officers. Carrillo-Hernandez approached a stopped vehicle and attempted to force his way into the car. Carrillo-Hernandez was unable to gain access to the car and Officers apprehended him soon after.

Carrillo-Hernandez was arrested and booked at the Orange County jail on charges of Attempted Carjacking, Resisting Arrest and Possession of Narcotics Paraphernalia.
