Eddison Gardens

- The city received a generous donation of tools and gardening-related equipment from the Stanton Community Gardens to add to our communal storage items for all gardeners to use.
- Pictured are the volunteers of the College Park West Preserve, working under the Caltrans Adopt-A-Highway Program. However, CPWP is different in their role as they manage areas that fall in both Los Angeles and Orange County lands. The groups' time is dedicated to maintaining all trees, including trimming up to six feet in height, clearing weeds and dead vegetation, as well as trash and other debris. The Gardens are lucky to have some of our dedicated members giving their time to this cause.
- Recreation Staff and gardeners play a crucial role in fostering a healthy ecosystem and creating a place for wildlife to flourish. You can see the benefits of our Bee and Butterfly Pollinator Preserve, which provides a safe home for the Monarch butterfly to thrive.
